Description of Issue:

Graduate Credit for Old Dominion University Undergraduates

Undergraduate Students Enrolled in Accelerated Undergraduate to Graduate Degree Programs

Old Dominion University hosts a number of accelerated undergraduate to graduate programs, which allow undergraduate students to shorten their pathway toward an advanced degree by beginning graduate study as early as the junior year. For accelerated programs, students must earn a minimum of 138 credit hours (108 discrete credit hours for the undergraduate degree, 30 discrete credit hours for the graduate degree). For accelerated Honors programs, students must earn a minimum of 160 credit hours (108 discrete credit hours for the undergraduate degree, 78 discrete credit hours for the graduate degree).

Undergraduate students enrolled in accelerated graduate degree programs at Old Dominion University may take up to 21 hours of graduate credit that can be applied toward their undergraduate degrees. Of these 21 hours of graduate credit, up to 12 can be applied toward both the undergraduate and graduate degrees. This option is available only to those students who have satisfied all admission and continuation requirements of the specific accelerated programs. All graduate hours applied to the undergraduate degree will be counted in the undergraduate grade point average, will appear on the undergraduate transcript, and will be used to determine graduation with honors. Undergraduate students accepted into accelerated graduate degree programs will be formally admitted to the graduate program following receipt of the bachelor's degree.
